Mad River Valley TV Supports Community During the Pandemic

The pandemic has changed how MRV TV operates and increased the need for our services. In the past, we've had videographers recording local government meetings such as Select Boards and the HUUSD School Board as well as sporting events. As these activities moved to Zoom, we adopted technology to capture and broadcast them on Waitsfield Cable channels 45 and 245(HD). We also moved our studio outside for the summer months to record our regular programming.

Today, the MRV towns and organizations have adopted varied models for meetings, including meeting in person or sometimes meeting in person and sometimes on Zoom. We've responded by getting our videographers back in the field—with appropriate safety measures. For example, we show Governor Scott's COVID-19 press conferences.

Our mission to support public, education, and government access is more important today than ever, and MRV TV is working hard to meet that need. As we move into winter, we'll keep up the communication, providing updates from state and local governments, local organizations, ski mountains, and businesses that are important to our valley.

Despite the pandemic, or perhaps because of it, we've continued to grow our broad audience. Our YouTube channel has nearly 8,000 subscribers, and we regularly have 100 active viewers of our Covered Bridge Webcam. Local programming continues to be popular with Plan V-TV, MRV Reality, and the award-winning The MEND.

In addition, the station has a new Executive Director. After several years of service, Keith Berkelhamer has moved on, and Rob is now in the role.

Remember, MRV TV is your public access station. Use us to communicate with the community, showcase what's unique about the MRV, or promote local organizations. Reach out to Rob (rob@mrvtv.com) or Tony Italiano (tony@mrvtv.com), visit www.mrvtv.com, or give us a call at 802-583-4488. Also be sure to subscribe to the YouTube channel and like us on Facebook.

Tokyo Vice Coming to HBO in 2021

Directed by Michael Mann, who is best known for its hit TV series Miami Vice, Tokyo Vice is an upcoming crime/drama show that will premiere on HBO Max in 2021. It's based on the book written by Jake Adelstein and stars Ansel Elgort and Ken Watanabe (who is known for roles in movies like Batman Begins). The show takes place in the late '90s and revolves around an American journalist who moves to Tokyo and takes on the city's powerful crime bosses. If you're into shows filled with crime and action, Tokyo Vice is for you!
